2019/20 SEASON TO FEATURE THE ICONIC CARMEN & THE COMPANY PREMIERE OF THE AMERICAN CLASSIC SUSANNAH

Manitoba Opera will present an iconic opera and a company premiere in its 47th season. Susannah, American composer Carlisle Floyd's third and most well-known opera, opens the season November 23, 26, 29, 2019. This opera will be paired with the most popular of all operas, Bizet's Carmen, March 28, 31, April 3, 2020. Both productions will be staged at the Centennial Concert Hall.

Winner of the New York Music Critic Circle Award for best new opera in 1956, Susannah is the most-performed American opera after Porgy and Bess. This "powerfully emotional piece is among the finest achievements in American opera." (Nashville Music Scene 2015) and was chosen by the United States to represent American music at the 1958 World's Fair in Brussels.

Floyd, the son of a southern Methodist Minister, reset the Apocryphal story of Susanna and the Elders to 1950's rural Tennessee during a revival meeting. Floyd's music for Susannah is rooted in Appalachian folk melodies, Protestant hymns, and traditional classical music with hints of Copeland and Bernstein. The opera features memorable songs and folksy arias like "Ain't It a Pretty Night" and "The Trees on the Mountains."

"With themes of intolerance, religious hypocrisy, social harassment, and alienation, this incredibly moving story with unforgettable music continues to be so very poignant over sixty years after its debut," commented Larry Desrochers, Manitoba Opera General Director & CEO. "And like Gershwin's Porgy, Floyd's opera is thoroughly American, making it a remarkably relatable work."

Carmen features some of opera's most beloved arias and is unrivaled in its procession of hit melodies. Over 140 years after its premiere in Paris, this sexy thriller continues to bewitch the audience with every note. Carmen can have any man she wants and when she seduces the young soldier Don José only to cast him aside for the handsome bullfighter, she seals her tragic fate.

"Who can resist the sensuous music of Bizet? With its lavish score and brilliant orchestration, Carmen is an irresistible theatrical event. Last performed by the company in 2010, we are very pleased to bring this opera to the stage for an entirely new audience," added Desrochers.

"Both productions feature exciting and talented Canadians in the title roles, supported by equally accomplished singers. We are pleased to welcome back to our stage, Winnipeg's Lara Ciekiewicz who will be in a role debut as Susannah. As Jenůfa in the Pacific Opera Victoria's production of the same name last season, The Times Colonist said, "(Ciekiewicz was) captivating in the title role, a voice of light amid dark subject matter and ravaged emotions."

2. Manitoba Opera announces 2019/20 Season

French-Canadian mezzo Nora Sourouzian has sung the role of Carmen a number of times. Of her interpretation in the Minnesota Opera production, the Star Tribune said, "(Sourouzian) moved onstage with easy, tiger-like grace and brought to the vocal line a richly colored, evenly produced mezzo with sensitive inflections of the text."

MANITOBA OPERA PREMIERE: SUSANNAH

Saturday, November 23    Tuesday, November 26    Friday, November 29

Music and libretto by Carlisle Floyd
Sung in English with English projections

THE STORY: Loosely based on the Apocryphal tale of Susanna and the Elders

Susannah Polk, a wide-eyed, beautiful eighteen-year-old, lives simply, but happily with her older brother Sam who raised her in a small Tennessee mountain village. She faces accusations of promiscuity and is shunned by a community caught up in a frenzy of religious zeal, innuendo, and intimidation after a group of church elders discover her bathing nude in a secluded stream near her home.

Entirely innocent, Susannah is painted as a sinning seductress by the elders who are eager to conceal their own lustful feelings. They force her intellectually disabled best friend, Little Bat, to say that he had sex with her, and the entire town turns against her.

At a revival meeting, a visiting preacher, Reverend Olin Blicht, tries to force her into repentance to "save her soul," but she runs from the church. He follows her home to convince her to repent, but he lets her know he's a lonely man and interested in more than her soul. Exhausted and beaten down by the treatment of the townsfolk, she lets him lead her into the house. The next day, alone and praying, he knows now the townsfolk were lying - she was a virgin. He begs her and the Lord for forgiveness, but is shot dead by Sam as revenge for violating his sister. Unable to catch Sam, the town descends on Susannah, but she stands her ground, laughing as she chases them off her property with a shotgun. She has survived their attack and remains standing there, an inviolably strong and inexorably lonely prisoner of a self-imposed exile.

THE ARTISTS

The principal artists for this company premiere include Winnipegger Lara Ciekiewicz who returns to the MO stage to sing the role of the young Susannah Polk. Fellow American Kristopher Irmiter also makes a return to sing the role of the itinerant evangelist preacher Reverend Blicht. He last performed with the company in Fidelio as Don Pizarro in 2014. James McLennan, who makes Winnipeg his home as well, sings the role of Little Bat McLean, McLennan last performed with Manitoba Opera as Goro in Madama Butterfly, 2017.
